Big "Cats" To Carry Sugar Cane To Mill

First harvest season of the new Sugar Cane Growers Co-op of Florida is expected to start the latter half of November.

The 22,000 acres of cane are expected to yield some 875,000 tons of cane annually from which is expected 87,500 tons of raw sugar.

Preparing to haul the cane to the $13.5 million sugar mill capable of grinding 6,000 tons of cane every 24 hours are 16 "cats" which are on the way here today from Clewiston.

The "cats"—16 giant yellow "Caterpillar" DW-6 tractors—the first shipment of a 29-unit order, are to haul four loaded cane wagons of 60,000 pounds from the fields to transfer points.

Giant truck-trailers will haul the cane from the transfer points to the grinding mill.

There are 51 members in the Sugar Cane Growers Co-op, a $23.5 million investment.

L. G. Kelly, Clewiston Motor Company president in reporting delivery of the "Cats," said, "We are extremely pleased that the co-op, the largest of the new sugar producers in the Glades, has chosen the 'Caterpillar' DW-6 as the machine for the job."

The Clewiston company has been the "Caterpillar" dealer in the Glades for 30 years and has done business with the 51 member-growers for years.

Rev & Mrs Stewart To Live In Georgia

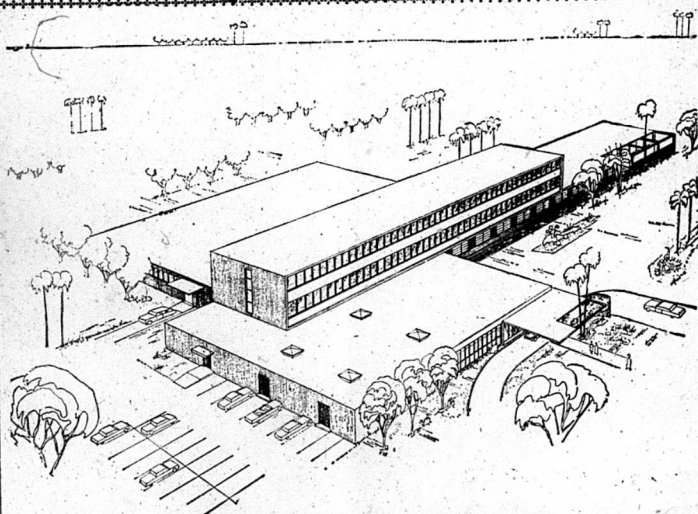

Rev. and Mrs. Charles D. Stewart, who have been in Georgia on vacation, returned to Canal Point Wednesday afternoon and left today for their new home in Statesboro, Ga. Rev. Stewart had planned to live in Canal Point for another year after retiring from the active pastorate of the Canal Point Baptist church, but changed his plans while vacationing in Georgia.

The former Canal Point pastor said that upon their arrival in Georgia two weeks ago many offers of interim pastorates were offered him and a position of teaching also offered Mrs. Stewart. Since they own a new home in that section they decided upon the move.

Judge Tyson Family Vacations In Carolina

Judge and Mrs. J. L. Tyson left Monday for North Carolina on a two week vacation. They planned to attend the final programs and banquet at Camp Rockmont near Black Mountain where their sons, Jim and Dick will be participating. They will be joined, also, by their daughter, Willola, who has been attending Camp Merri-Mack.

Mrs. Walter Cross was able to return to her home Wednesday after being a patient at the Everglades Memorial Hospital for several days suffering from a virus infection.

This is an architect's rendering of how a new $2,000,000 modern hospital would look if constructed in Western Palm Beach County. The hospital would have approximately 100 normal beds with an immediate complement of 120-130 beds in bedrooms designed for patient occupancy. The care of auxiliary services would be complete and be expandable to serve at least 175-200 with a minimum of disturbance to the continued operation of the hospital. Irani and Associates, Miami, are the architects and engineers for the proposed joint facility.

Why Pahokee Chamber Of Commerce Endorses Joint Hospital Facility

By Robert F. Fisher, Pres. Pahokee Chamber of Commerce
On Tuesday, August 21, the freeholders of the entire Glades area will vote for or against the building of a new joint hospital facility to serve the western part of Palm Beach County.

After lengthy discussion and a great deal of thought, the board of directors of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce has voted to endorse the joint hospital plan. This article has also been read by the members of the board and approved for publication.

The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce has no selfish motive in this endorsement. They are recommending it solely because they feel it is the best way to give all the people of the Glades adequate hospital service. The Chamber has no desire to, nor will it, enter into any controversy with any other group, pro or con. It is simply the feeling of the board that a joint hospital will serve the needs of the entire Glades Area better than two separate hospitals.

We believe that enough evidence has been compiled to show conclusively that a joint hospital will render better service, furnish more and better special services, operate more efficiently and effectively than two separate hospitals can possibly do. As to patient cost, we do not see any particular advantage in the joint plan. What we do see, and one of the things we want to emphasize, is that patients would get much better service for the money they are paying.

We are not financial experts and make no pretense at knowing what tax millage rate would be necessary to build and support such a joint hospital as is being planned, provided it is approved by the freeholders in each district. We do, however, have the figures of those who are expert in these matters, and they tell us it can be built and operated on a millage rate no higher than is now being levied for the two separate hospitals. It is also a distinct possibility it could be lowered.

We are impressed with the logic of the argument that with the small hospital load of the two separate hospitals, it is impossible to provide the services and specialists necessary for treatment of many diseases. The result is that our people, with serious ailments are forced to go to distant places to find these specialists. Those who are in a position to know tell us that a hospital with a patient load of 100 or more (as a joint hospital would have) can afford these specialists and services. This would make it possible for all the people in the Glades to have available close at hand medical and surgical care as good as the best. It can be a long, long road to West Palm Beach or elsewhere when you are racing with death.

Furthermore, we are paying for it and will continue to pay for it whether we get it or not. It is a fact that we are going to continue to operate our two hospitals at Pahokee and Belle Glade if the joint proposal fails. It is no fault of either the Everglades Memorial Hospital or of the Belle Glade Memorial that they are unable to provide all the services needed. They are simply not big enough. (continued on page 8)

Rev. C. J. Smyly Will Conduct Training

Rev. C. J. Smyly, secretary of Training Union of the Florida Baptist Convention, and a former pastor of the Canal Point Baptist Church, will direct the Baptist Training Union Leadership School to be held at the Pahokee First Baptist Church, August 20-23, Monday through Thursday evenings at 7:30.

Smyly will be assisted by Grady Downs, Minister of Education at the First Baptist Church of West Palm Beach, who will teach the adults; Mrs. Lee Gaben of Fort Pierce who will teach the young people; Mrs. Frank Wesley, Lakeland, who will teach the Intermediate Leadership, and Mrs. R. Skippy Best Athlete Montverde School

Lanham of Canal Point, returned home last Friday after attending the Montverde summer school and camp, where he received the award for being the best athlete in the grade school. Hooker Hiway Site For Joint Hospital

The Combined Board of the Northwestern and Southwestern Palm Beach County Public Hospital Boards last night officially designated the Southwest 10 acres of section 18 on State Road 715 between Belle Glade and Pahokee as the site of the proposed $2,000,000 Western Palm Beach County Medical Center. The site is located on Hooker Highway.

The Combined Board action followed positive acceptance of the site by the separate Northwestern and Southwestern Boards. This will become the joint hospital's location if consolidation of hospital districts is approved by freeholders.

Earlier this week, a team consisting of a site selection committee of prominent businessmen of both districts and a staff of technical advisors including an engineer and a hospital consultant, examined the feasibility of several sites in the area for the location of a joint hospital facility to serve the two areas.

Their selection of a site, which carried the Board's full approval, is on the east side of State Road 715, Township 43, Range 37, and is approximately one and one half mile south of County Park between Belle Glade and Pahokee and is on Hooker Highway.

A Straw Vote Election is scheduled for Aug. 21 in which freeholders will choose between having a joint hospital or improving their own facilities through renovation or new construction.

No Exclusives On Airport Gasoline

County Commissioner Monday ordered that its lease with Butler Aviation as base operator at International Airport be revised to meet requirements for obtaining Federal aid for the airport.

The action came after the commission learned no further Federal aid would be granted unless lease provision with Butler which granted some "exclusive" rights for sale of gasoline were rewritten.

At the same time the ordered revision of the Butler lease, the board voted to give other base operators the opportunity to sell gasoline with two cents per gallon going to the county for airport maintenance.

Turning to another county airport, the board authorized the county engineer to proceed with improvement of a parking ramp at the Glades Airport at Pahokee.

The board also received a grant for $26,000 from the Federal Aviation Agency to finance a new landing approach system at International Airport.

"Today we need a nation of Minute Men . . . citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life"

—JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

10 days after his inauguration
as the 35th President of the United States.

Twenty years ago, in the dark, uneasy days before Pearl Harbor, the Minute Man of Concord, timeless symbol of our Nation's determination to defend its freedom, emerged as the emblem of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program. When war came, the Minute Man became the rallying force behind the huge and overwhelmingly successful effort to back our fighting men with War Bonds.

In this, the 20th anniversary year of Savings Bonds, the Minute Man of Concord calls all Americans to an unremitting effort to help preserve our peace and freedom, threatened by forces more powerful and resourceful than those we faced in 1941. Though this effort will take many forms, one way open to all is the continued investment in Shares in America, U. S. Savings Bonds, by "citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life."

County Gives Land For Guard Armory

First steps for construction of a new National Guard Armory near West Palm Beach were taken Monday when the County Commission voted to make nine acres of land available as a site for the structure.

The land is located west of the Sunshine State Parkway, south of Okeechobee Road.

Lt. Col. Enoch Hunt said present National Guard facilities in West Palm Beach were originally constructed as headquarters for a single unit. At the present time, he said, three units operate out of the West Palm Beach Armory and there is not enough room available for storage of equipment for all units.

Some time ago, the county made a storage compound available at International Airport which is being used to store vehicles used by the Guard's 160th Transportation Battalion which has its headquarters in West Palm Beach.

Kellenberger Is Now County Sheriff

Clinton E. Taylor, whose two-month tenure as sheriff of Palm Beach County came to an abrupt end last week when the state Senate reinstated Martin Kellenberger to the job, drew a resolution of appreciation this week from the County Commission.

Taylor appeared before the county commission Monday to give what he termed a fiscal report on the sheriff's department budget. He said there was a $20,000 surplus at this time and that adequate funds were available to last to the end of the fiscal year.

Incoming Sheriff Kellenberger, he said, "is going into a comfortable budget situation."

Commission Chairman Lake Lytal told Taylor "we owe you a debt of gratitude for the manner you took over a bad situation. You have set a pattern for the efficient operation of the office."

Following Taylor's report and his expression of thanks to the commission for their cooperation, the board adopted its resolution of commendation for the former sheriff.

In other action concerning the sheriff's department, the commission:

Signed a dozen bonds for Kellenberger's deputies.

Tabled awarding of a contract for remodeling at the county jail with instruction to the county engineer to confer with the incoming sheriff on the plans to determine if the work is still wanted.

Instructed the county engineer to have Sheriff Kellenberger's name painted on the door to his court house office.

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to $2\frac{1}{2}\%$ for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra $\frac{1}{4}\%$ from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic $1\frac{1}{4}\%$ increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and for science. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.

Since I assumed the post of Commissioner of Agriculture 18 months ago, I'm more firmly convinced than ever that anyone is unwise to form a hasty opinion—to accept a one-sided argument—to jump to a conclusion.

If you want to arrive at a well-reasoned, well-informed, sound, logical opinion concerning any particular problem among the thousands that confront us today, Learn Both Sides Of The Story!

An example is a letter I received recently from a man in Texas. He writes: "As you no doubt know, Texas has opened a screw-worm fly producing plant to eventually eliminate the screwworm from cattle and livestock industries. It is stated here the same plan was carried out in Florida and proved 100 per cent successful. That within 18 months the screwworms were totally eliminated."

However, from people who have lived there, I have been informed, this is not true, that all the program did in that state was to multiply the fly population, ruin the beaches, etc., etc. Somewhere in between is probably the truth, but I was wondering if you would supply me any information you have available on this subject."

Those of us who know what screwworm eradication accomplished for Florida's livestock industry and wildlife cannot help but be amazed that such misinformation as the Texas man reports should be retailed by anyone who has lived here.

Fortunately, he did not accept the mis-informed opinions given him. He asked for more information, and from an authoritative source. You may be sure he received a prompt reply with all the facts.

Many of the problems we deal with in the Department of Agriculture are of a controversial nature in that one or more viewpoints as to their proper solution are apt to be encountered. But the rules and regulations guiding our enforcement of various laws result from learning the views of all interested and affected parties and obtaining the most reliable technical information available before they become effective.

One of our most complicated tasks in recent years has been the formulation of regulations governing agricultural chemicals (pesticides and fertilizers) so we can adequately meet our prime responsibility of protecting consumers. Involved here is the use of an ever-increasing number of chemicals and our obligation to see that consumer health is protected from possible harmful residues on the foods we produce in Florida.

We are obliged, also, to see that every pesticide is labeled with adequate information to protect the user, whether it be a farmer, his hired hand, a commercial sprayer or duster, or a householder.

When you start looking into agricultural chemicals, you'd better be prepared for some confusion. First is the problem of America's food supply. We have more than enough now, but what of the future? The "organic" school of thought adorns any food production that isn't accomplished with "natural" fertilizers. Chemicals, they say, including those used to protect crops from diseases and pest ravages, are poisoning the population. Back in 1933 a book on this theme, "100 Million Guinea Pigs," was best seller. The U. S. population then was about 100 million.

But there's plenty of evidence that without chemical fertilizers and pest destroyers we'll never be able to grow food for the 400 million population expected in the U. S. by the year 2,000.

On the other hand, there are disturbing reports from all over the world that we may be nearing the end of our rope in attempts to subdue, control or eradicate various insects by the use of chemicals. Particularly upsetting are reports such as the one by Rachel Carson, published recently in three installments in the New Yorker magazine—the last place I'd expect to find such a comprehensive, well-documented discussion of man's failures in his battles with nature.

If this Miss Carson is the writer I recall, she is a well qualified observer, a marine biologist and the author of two fascinating books on life in the sea. Her finding: that numerous insects, including many that are carriers of diseases to which both man and animals are susceptible, are resistant now to chemicals once used to control them.

She suggests that unless a continuing flow of new and potent chemicals can be evolved to overcome the recurring cycles of insect resistance, the problems of human and animal health, and of food production, may become greater than ever.

That would be a gloomy prospect, but I'm betting that man's resourcefulness and ingenuity will find one way or another to keep the world of insects, pests and diseases under control in the years ahead.

Why Pahokee—

Both together would be. Therefore the principal argument in favor of the joint facility. And cost is not a factor since we are already paying and will continue to pay as much as the joint hospital would cost.

Based upon these facts, the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce feels and recommends that every freeholder in the Northwestern District would go to the polls on August 21st and vote for the joint hospital. We hope our friends in the Southwestern District will do the same, but we have no right to make suggestions to them. They have their own situation to consider. We just hope they can see it as we do . . . as an opportunity to secure first class hospital facilities for all the people of the Glades.
